

Reflective Learning Journal

Matric No: 2022647734

Lecturer: Dr. Mohd Subri Bin Tahir

NUR FATIHAH ADLINA
BINTI IBARHIM

اَوَّلُ شَيْئٍ تَكُونُ لَوْ كُنَّا
UNIVERSITI
TEKNOLOGI
MARA

Table of Contents

About me

Introduction

Strenghts & Weaknesses

Summary

Difficulties & Reason

Strategy

Conclusion

About me

Was born in Kuala Lumpur in 2004, lived in Desa Aman before moving to Kulim.

Loves to read, draw and listen to variety of music

Born on 10th May, 2004

Wishes to be the best version of a person

Has a twin sister, eldest of siblings

- I can give people a shoulder to lean on

STRENGTHS

I can understand topics with short and to the point notes

- I try to help people study or memorize as a form of studying as well

- I have trouble comprehending some topics

WEAKNESS

- Gets distracted easily by small stuff
- Lacks knowledge to form full answers

Summary: Communication

1

The process of sending a message to the receiver to get a response.

Two types of communication

Formal and informal communication

2

Components

- SENDER
- ENCODING
- CHANNEL
- DECODING
- RECEIVER
- FEEDBACK
- NOISE

3

There are ways to overcome barriers of effective control. They are obtaining feedback so there isn't misunderstanding, use simple language to get points across easily and don't come up with your own conclusions of the other part to avoid problems.

Quality

The 8 Dimensions of Quality

performance
features durability
perceived quality
reliability
service ability conformation
aesthetic

TQM is a strategic commitment by the high level executives to make quality a factor that leads a company to success.

Four Principles of TQM

- DO IT RIGHT THE FIRST TIME
- FOCUS ON CUSTOMER NEEDS
- MAKE CONTINUES IMPROVEMENT A LIFE GOAL
- BUILD A STRONG FOUNDATION OF TEAMWORK AND ENPOWERMENT

Tools of TQM

Benchmarking

Fishbone diagram

Characteristics of a product or service in satisfying customer needs.

Making products or service that can challenge the top tier industry and making improvements based on metrics

Management from Islamic Perspective

Is a complete guidance on how to create a just society with individuals following the Quran and As-Sunnah.

Using resources at hand to organize processes following the structures back in Prophet Muhammad.

Islamic leaders must lead by example and become a beacon that could lead to prosperity.

Management rules cannot violate basic principles of syariah and human rights.

Must uphold the values and ethics of Islam in workplaces.

difficulties and reason

what i've learned

- IMPORTANCE OF COMMUNICATIONS
- QUALITY THROUGH MANAGEMENT
- ISLAM IS A WAY OF LIFE IN MANAGEMENT

Difficulties

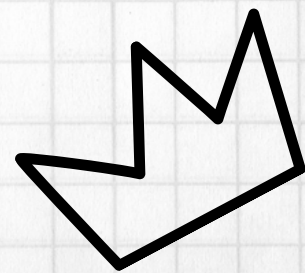

- I have a hard time reading lengthy words and understanding them.
- I need visual representation and showcases in order to understand some topics.
- They are terms I could not understand used in sentences.

Reasons

- I prefer simple and to the point sentences with their main points.

I learn better with graphic and images that helps me associate the topic I'm studying.

- Using terms I've never seen before causes me to misinterpret the meaning of the text.

Strategy

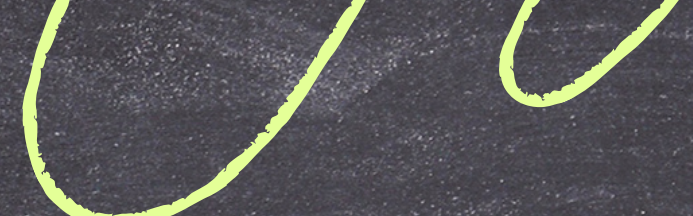

Take small notes of them main points of the topic to breakdown and make it easier to understand.

Do continues excersises of the topic like past papers.

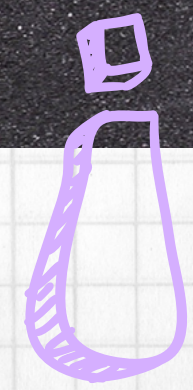

Write down important points during lectures because sometimes they have facts not in the book.

Use common sense because some topics are just a common ways employees are supposed to be treated.

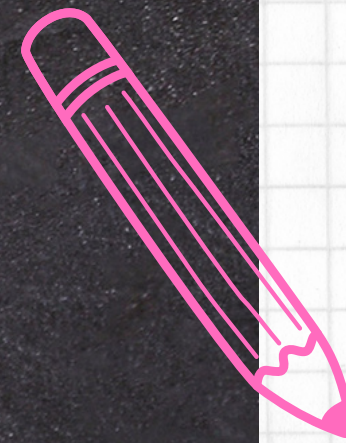

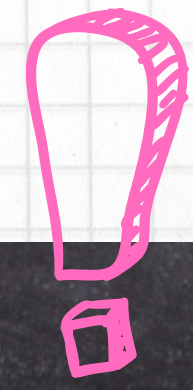

Conclusion

Throughout the time I have been given in the whole semester, MGT 162 under Sir have helped self-reflect on myself. I'm also thankful for teaching us and explaining the realities of work forces and hiring choosing they do. Not to forget my fellow friends and classmates who helped me and made sure I am not lost in misunderstanding of the subject. I strongly believe all the teachings that Dr. Mohd Subri would greatly impact my decisions for my future. Thank you for having an impact and inspiring me to be a better version of me everyday. Self-reflection is the School of Wisdom. -Baltasar

Gracian

THANK

YOU

